Dear Doctor,

CENO On-line to be launched on 1 March 2005

Central Notification Office (CENO) of the Centre for Health Protection has been set up since 1 June 2004 in order to centralize all infectious disease notifications and monitoring in Hong Kong. Besides the existing notification channels such as fax, phone and mail, a new web-based system called CENO On-line will be launched on 1 March 2005 to provide you with a convenient and secure electronic platform for online reporting of statutorily notifiable infectious diseases and other infectious diseases of public health concern. All cases that you report through CENO On-line will be saved in the system in a confidential manner. We include a special feature so that you can view your reported cases anytime online, including the progress of our case investigation.

To ensure a high degree of data security, doctors must first register as a CENO On-line user in order to have access to this web-based notification system. As part of the launch, we have arranged your personal set of login ID and password to be mailed to you in the last week of February for your access to the web-based notification system at CENO On-line website www.chp.gov.hk/ceno When you first login, you will be invited to complete the online registration.

We understand that some of you may prefer to receive your login ID and password at an address different from this letter or prefer not to receive the login ID and password for the time being. In either case, please fill in the reply slip overleaf and return to CENO through fax or mail before 23 February 2005.

CENO On-line is one of our initiatives for surveillance enhancement. At the CENO On-line website, you can also find the surveillance case definition of the statutorily notifiable diseases, examples of other infectious diseases of public health concern, and guide to using CENO On-line. We hope you find it and the enclosed CENO magnet useful. A CENO On-line flyer is also enclosed.

Wish you a fruitful and happy new year!

Yours faithfully,

(Dr. Thomas TSANG)
Consultant (Community Medicine)
